Farm News

By J. A. Smith, County Agent

During the planting season of '59-60, 1,388,850 trees were planted in Appomattox County. 63% of the county is in woodland. On many farms these woodlands are a liability rather than an asset. This month would be a good time to begin practicing good forest management.

The Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corporation will hold its annual meeting at Raleigh, N. C. on June 24, at 10:00 A M It is important that growers attend their annual meeting.

Fly control season is just before us. For beef cattle, DDT is still the cheapest material we can use. In dairy barns, Diazinon sprayed on the walls, and Methoxychlor applied on the backs of dairy animals will give control.

Every year, many gardeners lose tomatoes from blight. There is no variety resistant to this disease. Control comes through spray or dust. The following fungicides are listed in order of effectiveness: Maneb, Zineb, Copper. The control program should be started now and continued throughout the season.

Mexican Bean beetles are making their appearance. Malathion, Methoxychlor, or Rotonne are effective in controlling this insect. Malathion should not be used within three days of harvest and Methoxychlor, 7 days should elapse.

Planning to make fall seedings now is the best time to take soil samples. Crops are small and fields can be crossed without a great deal of effort. Pasture should have a pH of 6 - 6.5; alfalfa, 6.5 - 7.0; barley, 6.0-6.5. This is one of several measuring devices farmers now have to determine suitability to crops.

Pastures are tops on some farms while others indicate lack of fertilizer, or are showing the effects of overgrazing. Cross fencing and fertilizer can do a great deal for Appomattox pastures. It's not too late in the season for either.

Next lamb sale scheduled for Monday, June 20, Lynchburg.

Ground Broken For New Motor Court Here

Ground has been broken here for a new motor court, located in midtown along Route 460. It is to be constructed for J. T. Gold, and is next to his Tastee-Freez business. The unit will have ten units at first, and be built on a two-level basis so as to eventually provide twelve additional units.

A stepped up tourist business in Appomattox is confidently expected with the approach of the Civil War Centennial beginning early in 1961. This latest addition to the motor court facilities here, when completed, will be an asset to the community. Ground has been broken, and bull-dozing work has begun. It is reported that J. E. Sears Co., Inc., will do the construction.

"Now children," said the Sunday School teacher, "I have told you the story of Jonah and the whale. Willie, you may tell me what this story teaches."

"Yes'm," said Willie, the bright-eyed son of the pastor. "It teaches that you can't keep a good man down." -The Farmer.

France will resume economic expansion.

Over 2700 On Co. Voting List

Appomattox will have a near record of eligible voters for the big Presidential election this fall. The list of eligible voters is now being prepared, and has a total of 2,775 names. New registrations of voters becoming of age, and the eligibility of those in the armed services will swell the total to beyond the 3,000 mark.

First-class Mail To Be Speeded By New System

The official establishment of a new mail transportation and distribution plan that will provide next-day delivery of first-class mail throughout a 35-county, 17,827 square-mile area of southwest Virginia was announced today by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Representing the Postmaster Gen. at a press conference in the Roanoke Post Office, the "core" office of the new plan, M. R. Clarke, Operations Director of the Washington Region of the Post Office Department, said:

"This program for better first-class mail service has been in test operation in the Roanoke Metropolitan Area since May 1, 1960; and I feel confident that postal patrons in the Area can be assured that, barring occasional human errors, first-class letters mailed to 5:00 P. M., or at smaller offices, in time for the final dispatch if made prior to 5:00 P. M., will be delivered to their destinations within the Plan Area on the first delivery trips of the following business day.

"Of course, this assurance is only a minimum, general statement of what we can do in this 35-county area. From many points in the Area, it will be possible to give next-morning delivery in and well beyond the Plan Area even on mail deposited after 5:00 P. M. However, we would like to urge the patrons of this Area to mail as early as possible, as we will then be able to get their letters to destination more quickly, surely and efficiently.

"The installation of the Roanoke Metropolitan Plan provides before 9:0 0A. M. receipt of mail at 38 post offices, which formerly received their first class between 9:15 A. M. and 1:00 P. M. A 5:00 P. M. or later dispatch is provided for 119 post offices, none of which had an outlet for mail as late as 5:00 P. M., many ranging between 2:00 and 4:00 P. M., and in some instances as early at 9:30 o. 10:30 A. M.

"The Roanoke Metropolitan Area includes the counties of Alleghany, Amherst, Appomattox, Augusta, Bath, Bedford, Bland, Botetourt, Buchanan, Campbell, Carroll, Charlotte, Craig, Dickenson, Floyd, Franklin, Giles, Grayson, Halifax, Henry, Highland, Lee, Montgomery, Patrick, Pittsylvania, Pulaski, Roanoke, Rockbridge, Russell, Scott, Smyth, Tazewell, Washington, Wise and Wythe.

"These major improvements in the Roanoke Metropolitan Area's first-class mail service pattern are the result of intensive study and planning. Personnel of the Washington Postal Region and of 471 post offices in the Area have worked as a team to develop a comprehensive service program and put it into effect.

"Next-day delivery of most of the first-class mail in the Roanoke Metropolitan Area is now possible because of a closely integrated time-table which governs the work of the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together.

"Hard-working skilled postal employees race against time throughout the night in order to make possible next-day delivery of hundreds of thousands of letters to the nearly [illegible] and a quarter million people residing in this area."

Poor Choice

Asked what he thought of the candidates for the election, an enlightened voter replied, "Well, when I look at them I'm thankful only one of them can get elected."

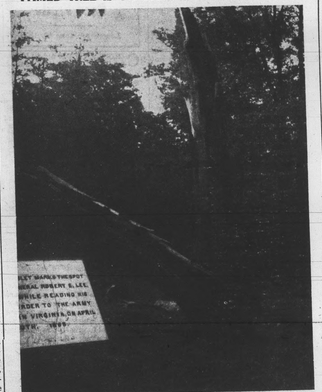
The cost of a college education has doubled in the past 15 years. By 1970, experts estimate a college degree may cost as much as $20,000.

FAMED TREE IS TWISTED IN HALF BY WIND



One of the historical landmarks in Appomattox County was dealt a twisting blow late Sunday, when a sudden windstorm wrung off the top half of the famed tulip poplar tree associated with the Farewell Address of General Robert E. Lee to The Army of Northern Virginia here on April 10, 1865.

The sudden wind swept in and presaged a summer electrical storm. The wind was more severe than The rain in the immediate area where some 100,000 visitors come each year to view the shrinal spots associated with the making of Peace between Lee and Grant on April 9, 1865.

The last headquarters of General Lee was a scant 100 yards away from the "Farewell Address" tree. Lee had gone through an agony of decision on Saturday night, April 8. To "Surrender" even the remnants of his glorious Army of Northern Virginia was enough to "try the soul" of the leader who had been this army scale the heights of glory on so many battlefields.

But, Lee had resolved to "do his duty" and take full responsibility for "going to see General Grant."

The story of Lee's meeting with Grant in the home of Wilmer McLean has been told over and over but the emotion within Lee after this meeting, as he rode through his lines, and gallant, but hungry men cried out: "Are we surrendered," surely aroused sentiments too deep for expression, in the heart of their general.

"Are we surrendered?"

The remnants of the Old Stonewall Brigade!

Gordon's proud men. And Longstreet down near New Hope Church, ready to fight to the last man.

And gallant, if depleted brigades and companies from all Dixie, each ready to spill the last drop of blood in love for their chieftain.

But, Lee had decided to do the honorable thing, and stop the war.

As Lee emerged from the McLean House, and Sgt. G. W. Tucker brought up his famed horse, Traveller, Lee was thinking of his men. That night he asked Col. Marshall to prepare a final Order to be read to his surrendered troops. Lee made revisions in this Order, and on April 10, it was issued as the famed "General Order No. 9." This was done on the approximate site of the popular tree, just off Route 24, which had been cemented up and "preserved" years ago, but was twisted in half Sunday.

"After four years of arduous services . . ." Lee wrote. Pause for a moment there, and imagine what passed through Lee's mind as he recalled what this Army had done. Outnumbered in virtually every battle, often two to one; yet, it had never been "outfought." No Commander could have wished for finer fighting men. Lee, then, tenderly, said ". . . has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources."

Lee's "Farewell" was brief, and stated simply: "You can take with you the satisfaction that proceeds from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed."

And, then those oft-repeated final words: "I bid you all an effectionate farewell."

A twelve-foot "stump" of the old tree is left. Efforts will be made to save that. It will stand, what is left of it, as a testimony to the love and respect between a great Commander and a great Army; twisted by time, but somehow hanging on.

CHILD KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Friends here are distressed to hear that Kari Koos, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Koos, of Tangent, Oregon, was killed last Saturday. The child's mother is the former Virginia Christian, the daughter of the late Dr. David A. Christian, Jr., of Appomattox. We are informed that the child, who have been three years old in October, was fatally injured when hit by a tractor.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Tangent, Ore. In addition to the parents, he is survived by four brothers and sisters.

SAVING BOND SALES

With the year nearly at the halfway mark, Appomattox County has reached only 30 per cent of its quota on the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. However, the report for the month of June should enable the county to approach the schedule. May sales in the county were $5,100.00, making the total through the first five months, $29,582.05, or 30 per cent of the annual quota.
